NC & SC / United States

S Lance/Fleming earned her BA and MA in Fine Arts with an emphasis on Visual Arts Education. Completing a lengthy teaching career in Arizona and recently transplanting to the Carolinas were catalysts for her work to open up new media combinations and discoveries. Susan Fleming's growing collection of mixed media pieces is being included in juried processes, and she is receiving awards in a variety of art call competitions, local Carolina galleries and museums, as well as international online exhibitions. Her list of works purchased by art collectors is being added to continually. Teacher preparations at the university level included building foundations in all the fundamentals of art design, history, cultures, and the variety of different media usages and subjects. Her work consists of a variety of expressions from stylized, abstract, realistic, and /or a combination of these; often, they are mixed media layered and pieced together in collage style. Fleming's desire is to create fresh, unique images from her subconscious rather than duplicating what is visually seen. She expresses what is within inner emotional levels and has become open to spiritual connections evolving in the mixed media layering processes.
